

Where Have All the Pennies Gone?

A lot of them, plus some nickels, dimes, and quarters, have gone from the Wishing Well at the Watergate project in Foggy Bottom to D.C. Village. The Wishing Well is in front of the offices of Riverview Realty Corp., sales and management agents for the $66 million project which will be composed of luxury co-op apartments, an office building, and a residential hotel. Each night coins are cleared from the well and sent to the elderly residents of D.C. Village. Mrs. Ida Bowie, center, and Augustus Bailey, right, accept from Riverview Realty's president Harold A. Lewis, the first of what is expected to be a long series of coin collections from the wishing well.